

The Founder

Frank Lantz is a Danish chef and entrepreneur with a strong passion for food. For many years, he lived out this passion at the forefront of the Copenhagen restaurant scene, running several successful establishments. Through the creation of TastePlease, he now shares his passion with the entire world, encouraging everyone to indulge in new flavours and unique dining experiences.

“I created TastePlease to peel away some of the constraints and limitations associated with a traditional restaurant. I wanted to get back to the pure experience of cooking and sharing great food – something I think we can all relate to.” – Frank Lantz

In addition to the daily management tasks as the head of the Copenhagen team, Frank is a frequent host on the TastePlease platform himself. He happily opens his home to hungry foodies and curious guests, setting the best possible example for others to follow.
