

The story

Born out of Copenhagen, Denmark, TastePlease draws on the culinary creativity of the city known for its trendy food scene and New Nordic cuisine. The company is built on a strong passion for gastronomy and the ambitious vision to revolutionize the way we dine, meet and interact. The first steps to do so was taken in March 2017, when they opened the doors to a truly global food universe – available to anyone, anywhere, anytime.

Inspired by founder Frank Lantz's search for authentic flavours and experiences, TastePlease is all about using modern technology to get back to basics. From New York to New Delhi, the platform and team behind it help food lovers of all kinds to come together and socialize the old fashioned way – around the kitchen table.

“The idea behind TastePlease is really quite simple – we want to bring people together through a shared passion for food”. – Frank Lantz, Founder
